Help us bring our gentle giant home

SAD LOSS: Kevin Kelly with his five-year-old son Gerrard.

BY NICK SMITH
nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

THE family of a young dad who died last weekend are desperately trying to raise enough funds to bring his body home to Ireland.

Kevin Kelly, who lived in Luton, died after an altercation in Upper George Street just after 5am on Sunday, May 1. A 23-year-old man was arrested in connection with the incident and has been bailed on suspicion of manslaughter.

Now his family has joined forces in a bid to raise the cash needed to return him to Ireland – and also set up a college fund for his five-year-old son Gerrard.

Pierce Kelly, Mr Kelly's cousin who set up the crowd-funding site, said the entire family had been left 'devastated' by his sudden death.

He said: "He was just a gentle giant. He'd do anything for anyone and it's devastating that this would happen to him. It's been so hard to take for the whole family."

"He was a real family man."

The crowdfunding page was well over half way to the target of £10,000 on Friday, just three days after it was set up.

Paying tribute to the 27-year-old plasterer, a spokesman for the family said: "We are devastated by the loss of Kevin. He touched so many people's lives and was loved by everyone. His cheeky smile will never be forgotten."

"Kevin was a loving family man who adored his son. He worked hard his whole life and we were all so proud of him when he started his own plastering company."

"Our lives have been torn apart by Kevin's death and we would ask that people respect our privacy at this difficult time."

"Kevin's father, two brothers, four sisters, partner, son, two nieces and three nephews, all of which adored him, would like to thank everyone for their support and condolences."

Mr Kelly was originally from Skeaghvosteen, a small village in Kilkenny, and played for Black & Whites Gaelic Athletics Association during his teenage years.

He had made Luton his home and started a business here after moving to the area three years ago with his partner Symone Sangha and five-year-old son Gerrard.

Pierce Kelly added: "He had four brothers and two sisters back home; most of his family are back in Kilkenny."

"We also want to secure a bit of money for his son, for a college fund or something similar."

Bedfordshire Police continue to appeal for witnesses to get in touch.

Anyone with information is asked to contact police on 101 quoting Op Dubnium.

VOTED IN: Conservative Kathryn Holloway

New PCC will create police hubs

NEWLY elected Police and Crime Commissioner (PCC) Kathryn Holloway has named bringing more frontline policing her number one priority.

Speaking after the result was announced on Friday, Ms Holloway promised to support Bedfordshire Police in introducing seven community police hubs across the county, in areas that need a more visible police presence.

She told LoS: "I'm planning to meet with Deputy Chief Constable Mark Collins as soon as possible to negotiate the opening of these hubs. Each hub will contain a team headed by a police sergeant, with a mixture of officers, special constables and PCSOs.

"Aside from a more visible police presence, this will allow Bedfordshire Police to attain greater intelligence from communities which were previously neglected."

The Conservative candidate ousted Labour's Olly Martins from the role after the election on Thursday, tallying 47,397 votes to 44,514 after second preferences were taken into account.

FUN, FOOD AND ENTERTAINMENT IN THE EVENING - A ROUND-UP OF OUR NIGHT TIME HIGHLIGHTS IN LUTON TOWN CENTRE...

Luton BID is supporting and celebrating the town centre's best bars and clubs as part of a national awards scheme, designed to promote responsible trading and reduce alcohol related crime.

Every pub and club in Luton has been invited to take part in the Best Bar None scheme and many are already working hard to achieving the accreditation, with 13 of this year's finalists based in Luton town centre.

Best Bar None - an awards scheme designed to promote good practice, raise standards and nurture a safe town centre - is this year sponsored and supported by Luton Business Improvement District (BID).

MEET OUR BEST BAR NONE FINALISTS AND GET A FLAVOUR FOR THE EVENING ECONOMY IN LUTON TOWN CENTRE:

Edge

This Park Street night club, which had a refit in 2011, now hosts many different DJs and crosses all genres of music.

Flame

At the heart of Luton's LGBT (lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender) community since 2002, Flame can be found on Wellington Street. It is open Thursday to Sunday from 8pm until late. Recent refurbishment is set to continue this year with plans for an upstairs refit and new bar area.

In the late 19th century this Bridge Street Weatherspoons pub was the site of the Crown & Anchor Brewery. It was founded by Thomas Burr in 1780 and stood next to his family home, known as the White House, hence the name of today's town centre bar.

What is Best Bar None?

Luton Business Improvement District (BID) is delighted to support and sponsor Best Bar None 2016, a scheme set to raise standards and reward excellence for those venues that attain the award standard.

Participating licensed premises in the scheme are judged against a pre-defined criteria of best practice that includes crime prevention, safety measures, fire safety, age related sales, noise pollution and environmental issues and drug prevention.

The scheme was introduced in Manchester in 2002 and now over 100 towns and cities have joined the scheme.

Winners will be unveiled at a special awards ceremony on 11th May, 2016 and details will be published on the Luton BID website: www.lutontowncentre.org

Pet lovers warned of serial kitty killer out on the prowl

BY JENNA HUTBER
jenna.hutber@bedfordshireonsunday.com

A PENSIONER found her beloved pet cat decapitated in her garden – sparking claims from an animal rights charity that a notorious cat killer has started stalking the streets of Bedfordshire.

The woman from the Whitehall Avenue area of Luton, who has asked not to be named, was so distressed after finding her missing moggy with its head and tail cut off in her back garden in February that she decided against further investigation. But Tony Jenkins, co-founder of South Norwood Animal Rescue and Liberty (SNARL), said the injuries on the kitty's corpse 'were absolutely in line' with other horrific incidents associated with the controversial Croydon cat killer, who has been linked to more than 60 cat deaths so far.

The charity is now warning people in Bedfordshire to keep their pets inside at night, and keep an eye out for anyone acting suspiciously.

Mr Jenkins said: "More and more people are coming forwards to say this happened to my cat too. I know some people think it's just a cat but to some people it becomes a member of their family, it's their baby. And it's hugely distressing to find your animal decapitated. The killer has been deliberately facebook.com/

leaving corpses for their owners to find them in their gardens. I hate the term but it's possible that there is a copycat killer also.

"Of course the concern is that many murderers often start out killing animals."

The charity suspect the killer may be a plumber or delivery driver based in Croydon with occasional jobs further from home.

Bedfordshire Police confirmed they investigated a suspected killing of a cat in the Whitehall Avenue area of Luton on February 23.

LAST MAN STANDING:
Tim Owen stayed behind to watch the celebrations

Hats off to Town fan's lone tribute to champs

BY JAMES AVERILL

editor@lsnmedia.co.uk

A LONE Luton Town fan who stayed behind after a game to watch their rivals be crowned champions says he has been left 'overwhelmed' after his good sportsmanship went viral.

Tim Owen, 23, watched his beloved Hatters lose 2-0 to Northampton Town last Saturday.

After the final whistle was blown most fans of Nathan Jones' side left the Cobblers' ground to make the journey home - except Tim.

The Hatters' fan, who was brought up in Northampton, instead decided to remain in his seat and watch his neighbours be crowned League Two champions.

When he left the ground 45 minutes later, thousands of jubilant Cobblers' fans joined for a round of applause to thank the supporter for his class act.

Pictures of Tim standing and applauding on his own have now been shared thousands of times across the world between footy fans.

"It has been pretty overwhelming," he said. "I have read so many nice comments about me - it's awesome."

"The Cobblers' fans applauding me was surreal and something I'll never forget. I really appreciated it."

"I could see all my Northampton mates opposite, and I thought instead of going back to the pub I would show my appreciation."

Tim has always supported Luton because his parents - who used to live in the town - took him to games at Kenilworth Road when he was a child.

And speaking of the Hatters' chances next year, he added: "We have a bright future."

"I'm convinced Nathan Jones is the right man and I expect us to be challenging for promotion."

We're fat AND trendy - Luton is hitting the top 10

LUTON found itself mentioned nationally again this week - though for varying reasons.

Data from the Health and Social Care Information Centre found that 1,770 NHS appointments per 100,000 people in the town were due to obesity, or it being a secondary consideration. It therefore ranked Luton sixth in the country for obesity, just days after the town also placed sixth for 'trendiest places to live' by number crunchers at the Daily Mail.

And Luton has featured in a whole host of top 10s.

We're number one for super fast broadband, but 10th for working age people possessing no formal qualifications. Read more of our list cameos at luton-dunstable.co.uk

FINALLY a way to get rid of

Slipped DISC

Are you suffering from back pain, arm or leg pain, numbness, tingling, or weakness in your arms or legs? Then it's likely you're suffering from a Slipped DISC. That's when one of your spinal discs is bulging or herniated and causing these, sometimes severe, symptoms because of the effect the disc is having on your nerve system.

You may have already had this diagnosed on an MRI and thought that there is little that can be done about it and that's a major problem; bad information, because in the right hands a lot can be done for you.

To end the misery caused by slipped discs you must have the right information. Pay close attention because I'm going to destroy some important myths and give you the facts.

MYTH: Slipped discs will just "go away" with some rest.

FACT: If you are dealing with back pain, buttock pain or leg pain, then you must seek help from a slipped disc specialist immediately. Left untreated a slipped disc can lead to permanent nerve damage - and lifelong pain.

MYTH: Pain is the only problem associated with slipped discs.

FACT: In severe cases, slipped discs can lead to the inability to control your bowels, bladder and sexual potency - leading to embarrassing situations.

MYTH: You must take pain medications to deal with slipped discs.

FACT: Drugs like muscle relaxants, pain killers, narcotics, antidepressants, and anti-seizure medications have serious potential side-effects and do not cure slipped discs.

MYTH: "I must have done something wrong to cause my disc to slip."

FACT: Physical work or simply sitting at a desk for long periods can lead to slipped discs. Accidents and trauma can also be the culprits. Pregnancy can cause damage. A slipped disc can happen to anyone - including super-fit celebrities like Tiger Woods, Sylvester Stallone, and British Olympic medalist Ian Wynne.

MYTH: Stop exercising and get several weeks of bed rest to let the slipped disc recover...

FACT: Staying active can help to the slipped disc recover and prevent the pain getting worse. Staying inactive in bed could be the worst advice - based on a recent study in the Netherlands.

MYTH: Slipped discs require surgery.
FACT: NO! There's been a huge breakthrough in the treatment of slipped discs. It's a new procedure called Non-Surgical Re-Constructive Spinal Care. The excellent results from this treatment have been published in major medical journals. Success rates are up to 90%.

MYTH: "There's nothing anyone can really do. I'm just stuck with this for the rest of my life."

FACT: With the correct treatment from a healthcare professional who specialises in slipped discs, you can find relief from the core cause - and the symptoms.

MYTH: Getting slipped discs properly diagnosed is expensive.

FACT: Not true. The Atlas Wellness Centre in Bedfordshire is currently offering an initial consultation with one of their specialists for Just £49.

Peter Olsson
Spinal DISC Expert in Bedford.

Peter Olsson is one of the UK's leading spinal care experts. Peter (the clinical leader at Atlas Wellness Centre) and his team of fully-trained spinal care specialists have helped over 4,026 patients find relief from agonising slipped discs. He's one of the first professionals in the UK to use Non-Surgical Re-Constructive Spinal Care.

This procedure does not require a hospital stay and in most cases you'll be able to continue with your normal daily activities with little interruption. The focus is on finding - and correcting - the original cause of the slipped disc.

According to Olsson, "We use a combination of ultra-advanced technology, not found elsewhere in the region, for precisely diagnosing the cause of your slipped disc. This means superior long-term results for most people."

Almost Immediate Relief From Pain...

Because the treatment is non-surgical, safe, and easy, most patients report an almost immediate relief from their pain.

Patient Jeff P. from Cambridge wrote, "My back pain was unbearable but the worst thing was the searing burning pain I felt in my buttock and leg... my wife insisted I see Peter Olsson. I'm 95% better in just a couple of weeks."

Take the Next Step - END the Suffering... Initial Consultation Just £49

No drugs fear in police cell death

BY NICK SMITH
nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

A MAN who died in a police cell after taking a large amount of drugs was searched for 22 seconds, an inquest has heard.

Istiak Yusuf's body was discovered at Luton Police Station in June last year after he was arrested over an assault allegation.

On Wednesday, Ampthill Coroner's Court heard from the police officer who took Mr Yusuf from his Luton flat to custody.

When asked if he had any concerns the 25-year-old was concealing drugs, PC Steve Hunt said: "None. None at all."

Mr Hunt told the court he had carried out a search, which lasted for 22 seconds, after Mr Yusuf had put a pair of jeans on over his shorts.

Another officer, named as PC Bravo, had also previously searched Mr Yusuf in a holding cell when he was wearing just shorts.

The court heard police officers had also failed to check on Mr Yusuf on time,

INQUEST: Istiak Yusuf, 25, from Luton, died in custody last June despite requesting he be checked every half an hour instead of every hour as he was 'intoxicated'.

Mr Yusuf was placed into his cell at 9.41am and checked on at 10.02am, 10.29am, 10.48am, 11.22am and finally at 11.54am, when the alarm was raised. The final two checks were overdue by four and two minutes respectively.

Diane Jones, the detention officer who made the final two checks on Mr Yusuf, said: "At 11.22am I looked in and saw Mr Yusuf was looking upwards with his eyes open. "I thought he was awake."

She then moved on to carry out other checks.

On the final check, she added: "I noticed he was in the same position, so I looked for a response.

"There was none, so I raised the alarm and then entered the cell."

She also noted he was sweating and paler than during the previous check.

When she was quizzed by Fiona Martin, the advocate for Mr Yusuf's family, over the penultimate check, she said she did not check if Mr Yusuf was breathing as seeing his eyes open, she thought he was awake.

Ms Jones also maintained he was not sweating during the 11.22am check.

The inquest is expected to conclude by Wednesday.

Row over election leaflets

AN investigation into an election leaflet by former Police and Crime Commissioner Olly Martins has been dropped.

Toni Bugle (pictured), the English Democrats' candidate, had made an official complaint about the leaflet posted to thousands of households in Luton from the Labour candidate, who lost the position to Conservative candidate Kathryn Holloway on Friday.

In the document Mr Martins says Ms Bugle is 'cut from the same cloth' as the English Defence League and labelled the party 'Islamophobic'.

Ms Bugle said the leaflet was part of a campaign of 'cheap shots' but Mr Martins was 'very confident' that no election rules had been broken.

Bedfordshire Police confirmed on Thursday it had 'no issues' with the A3 leaflet. A spokesman said: "The literature and complainant's comments have been reviewed and no offences were found."

High Town 'needs' improvement plan

BY JAMES AVERILL
editor@ltsmedia.co.uk

PLANS to rejuvenate High Town could see 750 new houses built and 350 jobs brought into the area.

A 'masterplan' has been drawn up for the estate's growth over the next five to 10 years, and residents are hoping the ambitious proposal will come to fruition.

The plans would see the creation of 'high quality' housing, new retail and shops, two new public squares, a food store and a facelift for High Town Road.

And the scheme has been welcomed by David Landau, chairman of the Friends of High Town - a group which dedicates itself to improving the area's image.

Mr Landau said: "Like any urban area High Town has its problems. Whatever people may think of it people want to live here and there is a demand for the plan. It does need improvements."

The document is out for consultation until May 27 for residents to submit their views.

The majority of the new

NOW AND HOW: The Railway Tavern would be developed and below, how the area could look development is planned for the west side of High Town, in particular around Old Bedford Road.

There would also be two new public squares - something lacking currently according to Mr Landau. Also key to the plans is the redevelopment of the Railway Tavern, which has remained empty and burnt out since it was engulfed by flames in March 2013.

Mr Landau said: "The Tavern needs to be done as soon as possible and that's down to the owner. It's important for private developers to play ball and help deliver the masterplan."

Cloudy2Clear Announce Trusted Trader Partnership

Consumer champions Which? have now joined the thousands of customers who recognise that Cloudy2Clear Windows really are a business that you can TRUST. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has received the coveted 'Which Trusted Trader' status after going through a rigorous accreditation process entirely focused on customer service.

Group Managing Director Marcus McGee believes that Which? has endorsed Cloudy2Clear's long standing company policy of delivering the highest standards possible at all times. 'Our service is simple. If your double glazing has misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Whilst a number of tradespeople perhaps don't focus on customer care as much as they should do, we make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle.'

Locally Cloudy2Clear service the Luton, Dunstable & Stevenage areas and manager

Tom Bliss agrees that this approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated as both my customers and, obviously a body as nationally important as Which? now recognise.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Tom a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Man admits trying to murder newsagent

BY COURT REPORTER
editor@lsnmedia.co.uk

A HOMELESS man has admitted trying to kill a widowed shopkeeper in the same spot where her husband was stabbed to death nearly seven years ago. Polish-born Tomasz Jaworski, 30, pleaded guilty to the attempted murder of Nirupa Patel, 56, who was stabbed on Christmas Eve 2015 at Moon's Newsagents in Luton.

She was lucky to survive after she was slashed in the face during the horrific ordeal.

Jaworski appeared at Luton Crown Court on Wednesday via a video link from Bedford Prison.

He also pleaded guilty to causing actual bodily harm to two other people at the same time.

The painful memories of Nirupa's own trauma along with the murder of her husband Jashbhai in 2009 in the same spot forced the Patel family to give up their beloved business of 33 years.

Jashbhai, 59, was stabbed eight times in the doorway of the newsagents by Richard Dettmer who was jailed for life in December 2009.

Speaking two months after the attack on Nirupa, her daughter Jaina, a HR advisor, said: "It's almost like history has repeated itself.

"We never got over the first incident and to be put back in that position is awful.

"It was six years ago since we reopened the shop and I don't think we slept properly knowing it might happen again.

"So when this phone call came through about my mum I felt numb knowing we've lost one parent like that and knowing it might happen again.

"We took the decision to reopen six years ago but now we have stepped back for our safety and sanity.

"For mum there is not only the physical effects of what happened to her, but also the emotional trauma with what happened to dad.

"I nearly lost two parents because of stupid individuals who think it is ok to attack shopworkers for nothing."

"That shop was our lives for 33 years and now it's gone."

Judge Richard Foster adjourned sentencing for psychiatric and pre-sentence reports.

He said: "I want the report to address psychological and dangerousness issues."

Judge Foster remanded Jaworski, of no fixed address, in custody and he is due to be sentenced on June 22.

They are pictured here catching up on the latest news from our town. Another good call.

BLOGGER OF THE WEEK: Pamela Birch

The history of a borough

Pamela Birch, service manager for Bedfordshire Archives and Records Service, looks back on 140 years of Luton as a borough in this two-part blog entry. This week, she looks at the growth of industry and the changes this saw in the town in the 19th century...

FEBRUARY 2016 marked the 140th anniversary of Luton becoming a borough.

Of course the borough that Luton is now is not the same as in 1876.

This is not only to be expected but to be welcomed because the borough and the town have grown in strength and adapted to change, as its motto suggests, due to knowledge and industry.

Before being incorporated as a municipal borough in 1876 the town had been run by a number of different organisations—the church vestry had civil responsibilities, the poor law union board of guardians looked after the poor and sick, the board of health regulated those things that might be dangerous and harmful, and the school board made provision for educating the people.

Alongside these boards, and sharing many of the same worthy gentlemen of the area, were companies which provided water, gas and a town hall.

These organisations did a good job but lacked coordination and as the town grew so did the feeling that having borough status would bring something more to the town.

Once the borough charter was received the officers of the board of health, which had bought the town hall from the Town Hall Company the year before, became the officials of the borough.

The first elections to the council were held in May 1876 and with the first mayor also being the chair of the school board, things got underway.

Within a year the town boasted its own justices of the peace, a police force and a chamber of commerce.

The town continued to grow and the chamber of commerce were keen to attract new industries, which would prevent the town being too reliant on the hat industry.

The council came up with the idea of making electricity that was the cheapest in the country as one of the town's selling points.

This, coupled with other advantages such as the railway and the availability of labour, brought heavy industries to the town.

Many, such as Hayward Tyler and Vauxhall, moved from established premises elsewhere.

Other industries, such as Laportes, and the British Gelatine Works moved in to support the hat industry but stayed as other sides of their business developed.

There were of course also home grown companies such as George Farr's specialist machine company.

This blog entry will continue next week, when it looks at the impact more jobs had on the town, including an increased population and the need for more schooling.

Bedfordshire Archives and Records Service is holding a talk on Thursday, May 26 at 1pm about the history of Luton, tying in with the exhibition running until June 29.

Both are held at the Riverside Building, Borough Hall, Bedford.

Taken for a ride

REGARDING pensioners' bus passes, you quote Central Bedfordshire Council, as saying that it is paid for by the taxpayers.

May I point out that pensioners ARE council taxpayers. If, sadly they are living alone, then, they are paying at a higher rate than couples or families.

I don't know where your contact lives but he/she obviously knows little about public transport in Central Beds. For example, from and to Ampthill there is NO transport in the evenings.

There is none on Sundays and none on Bank Holidays.

So there's none to be cut back!

Bus passes are a help to the health and general wellbeing of many people and certainly the businesses in Bedford would soon notice a drop in footfall, as would many other areas, if they were discontinued at some time.

Maybe your publication could support us. After all you too have to get old one day.

It is not exactly a bundle of laughs but we do try to make an effort.

A public thank you

BEING a politician I'm sure can be a thankless job; it's not for the faint-hearted.

I've contacted MPs before to raise particular issues to which I have received 'high touch' automated responses and that's why I wanted to say a public 'thank you' to the MP Iain Stewart.

Thanks for listening Iain about our bees, being worried about our bees and wanting to protect our bees in the home counties and nationally... wherever those busy bees may go.

It's a serious issue for future generations that can't be dismissed as 'another enviro cause' but any chemical that causes such a significant decline in our bee population is not good for anyone. I've been loving the arrival of spring and really noticing our big fuzzy, friendly, humming treasures whizz by and now, I'm loving the fact that I think Iain likes seeing them too and is prepared to advise the government on our behalf to give these furries and us a chance by keeping this pesticide ban as it is, how it should be - a ban, until companies find a safer way to protect our crops and counties. It's just the first step, but thanks for listening Iain.

Not dismissed lightly

THE news that Ofsted had again found the Portland Road school falling well short of required standards may have been shocking to some. But to anyone in Luton who keeps their eyes open it was no surprise at all.

While our local politicians gaily celebrate their child-like delusion of multicultural bliss they fail to see the consequences of their policies of appeasement and hands off. Bending over backwards to accommodate people from a very different culture may appear to be very laudable - and it is - but we do expect something in return; and in this case it's respect.

The situation exposed at this school should not be dismissed as an isolated aberration within the wider community. The segregation of the sexes is evidence that British standards are not accepted, in my opinion.

editor@lsmmedia.co.uk

A FAITH school criticised by Ofsted for 'segregating' male and female staff has hit back at the watchdog claiming goalposts keep changing during inspections.

Luton On Sunday last week reported Ofsted chief inspector Sir Michael Wilshaw had written to education secretary Nicky Morgan regarding a 'dividing' screen that separated staff at the Muslim Rabia Girls' and Boys' School depending on their gender.

He went on to say that the school was actively undermining 'British values'.

But the Rabia Education Trust, which runs the school sites on Dunstable Road and Portland Road, has said it feels 'insecure' because of what it claims are inconsistencies during the inspections – which took place last month.

In a letter of their own to Mrs Morgan, the Trust said: "We feel extremely disheartened and insecure about the fact that the goal-

SLAMMED: The Rabia Girls' and Boys' School has faced major criticism, but feels that goalposts have been moved by Ofsted posts are not clear and keep changing as all parties involved: Ofsted inspectors, the school and parents are unsure about what constitutes going against fundamental British values.

"This is evident by the fact that the previous inspectors and those on April 12 didn't fail us on the screen issue during the inspection days.

"They came back to fail us on April 19 after their senior managers and HM Chief Inspector Sir Michael Wilshaw challenged them about the issue, as they explained to us when they came back to our school."

In the letter they went on to say that the school was being 'unfairly targeted' and 'harassed'.

The school was referred to the Equality and Human Rights Commission by the Department for Education.

Bosses last week vowed to 'end the school's practice of segregating male and female staff.'

THE cost of limescale damage on your home appliances can be huge, not to mention the effects on your family's wellbeing. Take advantage of this exclusive EWT Package Offer and remove limescale from your home forever!

Each year the average hardwater home will use water containing 154lbs (70kg) of scale. This mountain of limescale can cause serious – and expensive – damage to your home plumbing and appliances, and your kitchen and bathroom fittings, too. The Carbon Trust estimates that just 1mm of limescale in pipes can increase your home energy consumption by 7%, representing a significant cost to the average family home.

Your household plumbing becomes increasingly inefficient, which makes heating your water expensive. For example, a boiler with just 5mm of scale takes an extra 4 hours to supply the average home's hot water – 90 minutes is all it should take!

The good news is that limescale can be permanently removed from your home quickly and easily, using a system that can pay for itself in the first 18 months. After that, the significant savings are yours to keep... year after year!

This 'best value' EWT Package provides everything you need to start making real, instant savings in your household budget and extends the life expectancy of those expensive home appliances.

Football for good

What a tackle!

BEDFORDSHIRE'S coppers are hoping to tackle more than crime next week as they take part in a charity football match at Kenilworth Road.

A community team will go up against the Bedfordshire Police side for the first half, before local club FC Kokan (pictured) face them for the second half.

All money raised will go towards Luton charity Level Trust, which aims to break down poverty in the town.

CAMPED OUT: Travellers near the M1

Travellers set up camp with 20 caravans at M1 junction

A TRAVELLING community has continued to move around Bedfordshire - this week setting up near junction 10 of the M1.

More than 20 caravans have set up camp on Newlands Road, and the community has said they will continue to move unless a permanent site is found.

Nearby resident Eddie Doherty said: "It's just hell. There's about 25 dogs as well and the rubbish is mounting up."

Central Bedfordshire Council maintains it is trying to make areas 'more difficult' for travellers to access.

'Breaking stigma' of mental health

BY JAMES AVERILL

editor@lsnmedia.co.uk

A NEW partnership between a university and the NHS will help people suffering with mental health problems as well as their families - and remove the stigma of talking about it.

The University of Bedfordshire and the East London NHS Foundation Trust has launched a Mental Health Academy and Recovery College in Bedfordshire and Luton.

The partnership was officially launched at the university's Putteridge Bury campus in Luton on Friday.

The academy will see the two groups pool their expertise to share knowledge and research in the field, while the recovery college will see free courses run from locations across the county promoting mental wellbeing and offering relevant, real-life help and support.

Jo Sale, a senior lecturer in mental health and nursing at the university, said: "We aim to reach out to local communities to improve their mental health and wellbeing, whilst also reducing stigma and promoting an understanding of mental health."

The courses will be delivered by university staff and students, as well as staff from the Trust which delivers mental health services across the county as Bedfordshire and Luton Mental Health and Wellbeing Services.

Diane Hull, deputy director of nursing and recovery for Luton and Bedfordshire Mental Health and Wellbeing Services, added: "The Recovery College will help change attitudes about mental health and offer an open door to anyone who wants to learn new skills that can make the day-to-day challenges we all face a little easier."

Raising a glass to

STEPHEN PENN kicks off a new series about the businesses that make our county tick

IS there anything better after a long day at work than a nice cold pint?

It can only be topped by knowing that very pint was made in your hometown.

The Charles Wells Brewery was set up in Bedford in 1870, along with 32 pubs.

A century later the family purchased the current site in Havelock Street, and now boast more than 200 pubs, with more than 30 brands in their portfolio.

But what really goes on inside the brewery? I went along to find out.

Led by Master Brewer Chris Reid, I was given a guided tour through the process of making beers, lagers and ales right from the dry ingredients to sampling of their creations.

The basic process (watered down not just for you readers but also for me who struggled to keep up with science lessons at school) goes from milling their grains with flour, to mashing the ingredients in a tun with hot water, boiling the mixture and then fermenting it with the yeast, at a specific temperature.

According to Chris this is around 20C for an ale and 12C for a lager.

Chris said: "A lot of smaller breweries say that the differences in each brew are their charm, but to us it's science."

Then it is filtered and makes its way to becoming the beverage we know and love, with the whole process taking around a week and a half.

"We want every single batch to represent exactly what we want and to hit the mark every single time," Chris added. "That is why, from start to finish, each brew is tested more than 200 times throughout the process."

The factory runs 24 hours a day, five days a week meaning while the townspeople are tucked up in bed the brewery is still humming away.

But what makes it so special to Bedford?

Well firstly the water is sourced from a local bore hole in Foster Hill Road, and the brewery has kept Bedford as its primary base for more than a century.

This heritage is important,

FACTBOX

- Charles Wells brews approximately 450,000 Hectolitres a year (or 1943 individual brews) or 78,000,000 pints
- More than 56 tonnes of hops are used in their brews every single year.
- They produce more than 55 million cans a year and 20.5 million bottles each year, as well as filling 406,000 casks and 460,000 kegs.
- There are more than 30 different beer brands in their portfolio.
- They have one head brewer, five master brewers, and two graduate brewers.
- They also have 621 employees within Charles Wells, as well as nine apprentices
- It would take 6,335,825 kegs of beer to fill one Cardington Shed.

and to maintain this reputation there is a lot of science that goes into making that perfect pint.

Paul Hutchinson, from the media team, keeps an eye on Charles Wells' social media accounts. "Seeing people post from across the world that they are drinking our brews is great for us and a great thing for Bedford," he said. Now the brewery is inviting members of the community in for special Taste the Brewery sessions.

"Our brewers have so much knowledge about the beer industry that they want to share it with the community, Paul added. News editor Katy Hallam and I got to be some of the first guests, trying ales paired with a five course meal.

TOP JOB: Kathryn Holloway has replaced Olly Martins as Police and Crime Commissioner

Police presence is new PCC's priority

BY NICK SMITH

Ms Holloway added: "Whether it's in Queens Park in Bedford, Bury Park in Luton or our rural communities, we want to make sure we have a presence in the communities where for too long we've been invisible."

The new cop boss could not give details of where exactly these new hubs would be but said she hoped they would be spread out evenly across the county.

When it came to the count, the Tory candidate held a narrow lead on first preference votes over her Labour rival Olly Martins. The election was decided on second preference after neither candidate could get the votes needed for a majority.

Former PCC Mr Martins had held the post since the inaugural elections in November 2012. He said: "I feel privileged to have held this post for the past three and a half years."

"I want to congratulate Kathryn and I wish her the best in securing a fairer funding deal for Bedfordshire."

After the announcement, Ms Holloway said: "I want to thank everyone in the count for their work, along with my family and my excellent campaign manager John Young."

Linda Jack for the Liberal Democrats, Toni Bugle for English Democrats, and Duncan Strachan for UKIP also ran for the post.

WHAT CHEW DOING?: Lucha the Asian elephant gets her teeth inspected and inset, the removed molar

Dentist gets to the root of elephant's problem by removing mammoth molar

THIS patient certainly had no trouble opening wide - as a dentist took a closer look at an Asian elephant suffering from massive toothache.

Keepers at ZSL Whipsnade Zoo noticed that 33-year-old female Lucha was off her food and upon investigation discovered a wobbly tooth had moved and become infected.

Vets called upon the services of West End dental surgeon Dr Peter Kertesz, a specialist in zoo dentistry, to help the team extract the huge molar.

Head vet at the Zoological Society of London, Nic Masters said: "While most people dread the idea of a visit to the dentist, for Lucha the elephant it was a relaxed experience, due to the regular training and close relationship she has with our keepers."

"The keepers quickly noticed when Lucha was off her food, and as soon as we identified the problem tooth, we called upon expert zoo dentist Dr Peter Kertesz to help out."

"When anaesthetizing an animal, we can't predict what side they'll lie down on, but thanks to training, Lucha was able to lay down on the right side, ensuring we could access her gum easily and quickly remove the tooth to get her back on her feet as soon as possible."

Keepers captured the whole procedure on camera.

People warned to stay out of water

EMERGENCY services have stepped up calls warning people to stay out of the open water as temperatures soar above 20C this weekend.

Bedfordshire Fire and Rescue Service recently held water demonstrations to demonstrate how dangerous it can be to take a dip in open water, even when it's really hot.

Community safety officer David Lynch said: "Water doesn't warm up as quickly as air. You can still get cold water shock which seizes up muscles."

OAP lost £9k on unfinished build

BY JAMES AVERILL
editor@lolsmedia.co.uk

A HEARTLESS man has been sentenced after he scammed an elderly man out of £9,200 for building work that was never completed.

Gavin McKendrick, of Lamers Road, Luton, pleaded guilty to one count of converting criminal property and one count of criminal damage at Luton Crown Court on Monday, April 25.

The 32-year-old was sentenced at the same hearing to a 12-month Community and Supervision Order, ordered to undertake 50 hours' unpaid work and pay a victim surcharge of £100.

Following a Thames Valley Police and Buckinghamshire and Surrey Trading Standards investigation, McKendrick was arrested on September 23, 2015 and charged on December 2, 2015.

The offences took place in December 2014 in Henry Road, Aylesbury, when McKendrick was involved in carrying out purported building work on a property belonging to a 71-year-old man.

McKendrick allowed the use of his bank account for the funds that were obtained from the victim to be converted. The victim lost £9,200 in total.

PC Matt Spenceley, investigating officer, said the work was never completed and what was fell below the standard of a reputable tradesman. He added: "I welcome this sentence that has been given to Mr McKendrick."

Around the world - for a day at least

CULTURES from around the world will come together for a day of family fun in Dunstable this week.

Back by popular demand following its success in 2014, organisers Dunstable Town Council will have no doubt made sure Around the World 2016 is even bigger and better this time around.

More than 1,500 people are expected to turn up to the free family event, which is being held next Saturday at the Priory Gardens.

The event is designed to celebrate the wide variety of different cultures that the world has to offer, while having fun learning about what you would expect to see in each different country.

There will be activities from the different continents and it will include dance, music, crafts, and much more.

A whole host of different acts will be performing to keep you all smiling.

Traditional Dhol Drummers will be giving some rythmn to the afternoon, while steel bands and the Bollywood dancing will get you all in the groove.

If you fancy learning a musical instrument then there's a didgeridoo workshop, as well as samba and percussion lessons and theatre groups demonstrating their talents, and all willing you to join in the fun.

The event takes place in the gardens from 10am until 4pm.

THEATREClassic Brontë gets a reboot

ALMOST 170 years on, Charlotte Brontë's classic story of the trailblazing Jane Eyre continues to inspire and thrill new audiences.

And now an innovative musical staging of the timeless romantic story, written in 1847 and set against the backdrop of the Yorkshire moors, is set to grace the stage at Luton Library Theatre on Thursday May 19.

The musical theatre adaptation, produced by Mountview Academy of Theatre Arts, follows spirited heroine Jane from her beginnings as a destitute orphan right through to her passionate and explosive relationship with Edward Rochester, exploring themes of classism, sexuality, religion, and proto-feminism along the way. The 'lively' production follows Jane as she comes of age through abuse, rejection, illness and love, with original music by Ben Goddard.

The audience will go with fiery Jane as she takes on a job as a governess at Thornfield Hall, falls in love with Rochester and agrees to marry him, only to find out on their wedding day that he is already married - and his wife is still locked away in the grand house.

Brontë's most popular work, Jane

Eyre ranks as one of the greatest and most popular works of English fiction of all time.

The classic love story has been reimagined for the big screen countless times, including a 2011 remake which saw Dame Judi Dench take on the role of Mrs Fairfax, with Mia Wasikowska as Jane Eyre and Michael Fassbender as Edward Fairfax Rochester.

As well as getting the chance to see Jane Eyre on stage, budding actors will also be able to learn the tricks of the trade from Mountview Academy of Theatre teacher Sally Ann Gritton.

She will be running a connected Acting for Stage workshop at the theatre earlier in the day, which is recommended for anyone aged 14 years and over with an interest in theatre.

The performance of Jane Eyre kicks off at the St George's Square theatre at 7pm. Tickets cost £5.

The workshop starts at 4.30pm and costs £7.

To book tickets or find out more information about both the workshop and performance, call the box office on 01582 878 100.

COMEDY

Three funny guys

THIS month marks the penultimate show of the season for popular touring comedy show, Barnstormers.

Hosted, as always, by Kevin Precious, this show brings together some of the best comedy stars that the London comedy circuit has to offer.

First on the bill for this performance is Dougie Dunlop (pictured).

A highly talented observational comic, Dougie Dunlop, effortlessly gets audiences laughing and sharing his unique take on life.

Dougie started his career at the The Stand in hometown Edinburgh, and made his fringe debut in 2000 as part of The Midnight Show in the Gilded Balloon.

For Fringe 2003, he headlined the prestigious Big Value comedy package show at the Café Royal.

He performs at all the major comedy venues in the UK and abroad - as far flung as Shanghai.

He headlined in many places, and his relaxed style and widespread appeal makes him very much in demand at major corporate events and weddings.

Next is Pierre Hollins.

The only other 'proper jobs' he's ever had were washing dishes in the House of Commons, labouring on a gas pipe line in Qatar, in the Middle East, and teaching drama to the mentally ill.

He has been an audience favourite on the comedy circuit for many years, and has headlined at clubs throughout the UK, Europe, the Middle East and Asia. In the early days he worked as a support act to Lenny Henry and Rory Bremner; appeared in the West End with Rita Rudner; and toured with The Flying Pickets, and Willie Rushton & Barry Cryer.

BARNSTORMERS
THE GROVE
MAY 19

Last, but definitely not least, is Phil Butler.

He has always been a popular act, even in the early days when he was serving his apprenticeship in holiday parks, end of the pier shows, pantos and cruise ships.

These were happy times for Phil, especially being part of big production shows, where he could show off his other talents like singing and dancing.

Soon he found himself starring in these big shows, playing the comic lead in pantomime and seeing his name in lights with shows such as 'Phil Butler's Christmas Party' in Blackpool and 'Seaside Special' which is the UK's number one summer show.

Tickets for the show are £12.50 and available from the Grove Theatre Box Office, either at grovethetheatre.co.uk or by calling 01582 602080 or £15 on the door on the night of the show.

Harrison Murray launch their support local schools initiative

In January we asked Bushmead Primary School and Warden Hills Infant schools pupils to design a for sale board to be used in 2016. We received over 100 entries and all were absolutely superb. However there could only be one winner. We decided on this beautiful, colourful board designed by Ashantia Fearon of Bushmead Primary School.

Each time one of these boards is selected by a vendor BOTH schools benefit from a £25 contribution to each school's fundraising efforts. This is part of our ongoing commitment to supporting our local community and where better to continue by supporting two of North Luton's schools.

If you have a property to sell in Bushmead, Bramingham or Warden Hills then please contact us on 01582 410044 and help us raise money for these fantastic schools and your local children.

Keep your eyes peeled for the boards in and around the town.....

McLaren on sale for £10m

IF you've got £10,000,000-plus burning a hole in your pocket then McLaren has one of the rarest cars in the world for sale - a 1998 F1.

The McLaren F1 is regarded by many as the car which rewrote the supercar rule book.

With only 64 road car examples built between 1993 and 1998, the original McLaren F1 is one of the rarest and most highly-regarded models among collectors, enthusiasts and petrol heads.

McLaren Special Operations continues to maintain and manage McLaren F1s globally, and is offering one of last - and what it describes as one of the finest examples - of this highly-regarded model for sale.

The car, McLaren F1 chassis No.069 is in factory condition, and has covered fewer than 2,800 miles since new.

Powered by a naturally-aspirated mid-mounted 6.1-litre V12 engine producing 627bhp, it broke the record for fastest production road car with a top speed of 242.8 mph and, more than 20 years on, still holds the title of fastest naturally-aspirated production road car ever built.

During 1998, only six examples of the original McLaren F1 were completed, and chassis 069 was the 60th model overall to be hand-built at the McLaren factory in Woking, Surrey.

It is finished in Carbon Black and complemented by subtle detailing throughout, including a stealth finish to the 17-inch centre-locking magnesium wheels.

The central driving seat - a characteristic of the F1 - is finished in black and contrasting red leather, with the dual passenger seats upholstered in Alcantara. The supercar is UK registered with all UK taxes paid and is being offered for sale on behalf of a private client exclusively through McLaren Special Operations Heritage division.

It comes with fitted luggage, a complete Facom titanium lightweight tool kit and Facom tool box, all books and literature, including the correct numbered LM Edition of the "Driving Ambition" McLaren F1 book and a limited edition McLaren F1 owner's watch.

A McLaren spokesman said that the price of the vehicle was by application only but would be in line with the value of other F1s sold recently - one of which went for more than $13,000,000 dollars when sold in the United States.

Last year actor Rowan Atkinson, who famously crashed an F1 twice, sold his vehicle for around £8 million.

Toyota Prius

Take a look inside...

THE original was billed as arriving just in time for the 21st century.

Now the fourth generation Toyota Prius is being heralded as 'the rebirth of the pioneer'.

Pioneer, because the quirky looking hatchback was the world's first mass-produced hybrid-powered car and remains the best-seller in that sphere.

Toyota is claiming new benchmarks in fuel economy, emissions and efficiency from the latest Prius, which is cleaner than ever before with CO₂ falling to a new low of 70g/km - almost half the 120g/km produced by the original. And the Business Edition Plus variant couldn't be more aptly named as it is extremely tax effective courtesy of an 11 per cent benefit-in-kind rating. It's also free of the London congestion charge and boasts a 100 per cent capital write-down allowance.

If you don't know how things work, the Prius is capable of operating in petrol and electric modes alone as well as in a combination of both.

Called Hybrid Synergy Drive, the system comprises a 1.8-litre petrol engine, a powerful electric motor, a generator and a high performance battery.

Having tried the previous model less than 12 months ago, the improvement in driving enjoyment from the new generation Prius is clear - it's smoother, very quiet, handles more positively and feels more spirited.

The car's cockpit-style cabin is also better with its firm, durable cloth seats - comfortable for three across the back - a colour head-up display, seven-inch touchscreen, wireless phone charger and six-speaker sound system.

As for luggage space, there's a deceptively large boot - particularly if a repair kit rather than spare wheel is specified - while you also get front and rear door pockets, an overhead console, glovebox and a console box with a removable inner tray and two cupholders.

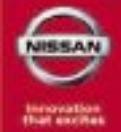

During its development the Prius was crash tested more than 400 times to ensure a top safety rating, and systems like a rear cross traffic alert and blind spot monitor are key safety features.

Toyota aims to make half its UK vehicle sales hybrid by 2020 - and if what's to come is as good as the latest Prius that percentage is likely to rise swiftly.

Peugeot Citroen reveal new van prices

THE UK range and prices for the all-new Peugeot Expert van have been released ahead of its worldwide launch at the 2016 Commercial Vehicle Show at Birmingham's NEC. It will be available to order from June 2016 ahead of going on sale in September. In the UK, the new Peugeot Expert will be offered with a choice of three, well-equipped panel van trim levels: Expert S, Expert Professional and Expert Professional Plus and will also come as a Platform Cab and Crew Van. Prices start from £17,495 for the Expert S and on to the Expert Professional which has a starting price of £18,845. The Professional Plus has a top price of £26,545. The new Experts will appear alongside four other models from Peugeot's LCV range. The French company will exhibit a Traveller i-Lab Concept, a Boxer Pro model and two Peugeot Partner vans, one liveried in Royal Mail livery and one in Police livery. Also from the PSA group, Citroen has announced the prices of the New Dispatch vans which will be offered with a choice of three, well-equipped trim levels: X, Enterprise and Enterprise Plus. Dispatch S comes in at £17,495 and the Dispatch Enterprise at £18,845. Enterprise Plus will cost from £21,645. The three new Citroen Dispatch models will be on display at the show alongside five other models from Citroen's LCV range. These show exhibits will include a Nemo van, a Berlingo BlueHDI-powered van, Berlingo Electric van, a new Relay Crew Van and a Relay 'Ready to Run' tipper.

British car makers producing more

BRITISH car makers continued with strong growth in March with output increasing 9.8 per cent to 159,074 units, according to figures released by the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders. The SMMT says that one car was produced in the UK every 16.7 seconds in March. Demand from overseas showed the biggest gains, up 14.3 per cent in the month, while production for the home market was broadly stable, falling slightly by -1.4 per cent. It was a trend reflected in first quarter figures, with exports for the first three months growing 11.1 per cent to 329,653 units, while domestic output also rose by 8 per cent, buoyed by stronger growth in January and February, to take overall manufacturing volumes to 443,581, an increase of 10.3 per cent. Mike Hawes, SMMT chief executive, said: "UK car plants were at their busiest for 12 years in March, with a vehicle rolling off production lines every 16 seconds thanks to heightened international demand for British-built cars. "Much will depend on economic and political conditions in key markets but, with several brand new global models starting production here in the first quarter alone, the prospects for future growth look bright."

CATERHAM AT THE LONDON MOTOR SHOW

CATERHAM Cars will exhibit at the 2016 London Motor Show - the first major British motor show since 2008. Caterham will showcase the Seven 360R, Seven 420R and the latest version of the Seven, the 620S. A race car from the Caterham Academy - the brand's novice motorsport championship - will also be on display. David Ridley, Caterham's chief commercial officer, said: "As a proud part of Britain's motoring heritage, we are delighted to announce Caterham will be at the 2016 London Motor Show. "It is a fantastic opportunity to showcase all that Caterham has to offer and engage with the British motoring community. We can't wait to be part of it." The show is open to the public from Friday, May 6, to Sunday, May 8, and will be held at Battersea Park, featuring new and historic cars as well as motoring celebrities. Caterham will be present throughout the weekend, including the trade and preview day on Thursday, May 5. Other famous British car brands exhibiting at the show will include TVR, which is about to make a comeback with a new model, and MG which will be revealing its first SUV, the GS.

Miracle of the fantastic Foxes

Wright on SPORT

matt.wright@
lsmedia.co.ukmattywright86

SORRY to add to the litany of articles written about this season's Premier League champions, but there really is only one topic to focus on this week.

This is the day after Wes Morgan got his hands on the trophy as Leicester City were officially crowned champions, yet what they have achieved still hasn't really sunk in, nor does it seem real.

Before this season, the Foxes winning the title was something that was solely the preserve of computer games, with people bragging about what they've achieved with them on Football Manager.

It just shows how strange this season has been that neutrals were actually happy to see Chelsea score on Monday as Eden Hazard's late equaliser against Tottenham sealed one of the biggest miracles in sporting history.

It's not just that Leicester have become English football's first new champions since Nottingham Forest in 1977/78, but the fact they've done it without breaking the bank.

We all know how Manchester City's rise came about and it's amazing to think that there are plenty of players in their squad that individually cost more than Leicester's whole team combined.

The first choice line-up manager Claudio Ranieri likes to field cost £22 million, which includes the players who came first, second and third in the Football Writers' Footballer of the Year award.

We all know story of Jamie Vardy (hell, they're apparently making a film about it), who cost £1m from Fleetwood Town, while Riyad Mahrez was even more of a bargain at £350,000.

Then there's N'Golo Kante, universally regarded as the bargain of the season, but he cost an astronomical £5.6m in comparison.

I saw the indefatigable French midfielder in the flesh for the first time last week and he really does get everywhere around the pitch. He's 25 years old as well, how had no-one noticed him before?

In guiding the Foxes to their first-ever league title, Ranieri became the third Italian manager to win English football's top flight and, surely, no-one has seen their stock rise so much in a single season as he has this year.

His chequered record, his 'Tinkerman' reputation in this country and the fact his last job with the Greek national team saw him preside over a home defeat against the Faroe Islands, led many to have doubts over his appointment. I should know: I was one of them. I didn't see the need to replace Nigel Pearson given the way Leicester finished last season, as they produced one of the greatest escapes from relegation.

But Ranieri and his players have produced the sort of miracle modern football appears to set out to prevent.

We'll find out in the years ahead whether their triumph will inspire other 'upstarts' to challenge the moneyed elite.

However, that's probably not something Leicester, the 'fearless champions,' will worry about.

Reynolds beaten but unbowed in Liverpool

HEAT OF BATTLE: Jordan Reynolds lost his final against Ben Whittaker in the National Championships

BOXING

JORDAN Reynolds may have lost to Ben Whittaker in the middleweight [75kg] final of the 129th England Boxing Elite National Championships up at the Liverpool Echo Arena last weekend, but he isn't about to let the defeat demotivate him in any way.

"It is what it is," said Reynolds after Sunday's fight. "I thought I'd done enough to win the fight."

"The first round was probably 50/50, so could have gone either way, but I felt pretty good about what I'd done in rounds two and three, but that's boxing for you."

"The only way to be sure you win a fight is to stop your man; you can't rely on the judges". Luton's Reynolds was given a bye through to the semi-final on Saturday morning where he beat Brighton student Lee Jenkins by way of unanimous decision.

"I'm not sure why the quarter final didn't go ahead on Friday night," said Reynolds, "but I'd prepared to fight so when it didn't go ahead I was disappointed."

"I'd physically and mentally got ready. So I trained hard instead, made sure the weight was right for the next day."

"I fought Jenkins on the Saturday morning, he was awkward. He ran at me from the start, I stopped him with a body shot in the second round."

"In the third I was looking for it a bit too much I think, but I saw the fight out and won pretty comfortably."

Reynolds lost at the quarter-final stage last year, though he was seeded first in his weight for this year's finals after a season that's seen him win, and successfully defend, the English Amateur middleweight title.

"Whittaker's a good lad, in the GB team," said Reynolds of his opponent in the final. "I had a game plan to get inside him - he's 6ft 3in, he's big, but I felt I'd managed to dominate the work rate; to be fair at times he didn't take a forward step."

"It's disappointing, but there it is. I've got bigger things on my mind. I'm waiting for the invitation for the GB trials."

"That's up in Sheffield, so I'll now be preparing for that. I took a day off after the event and then it was back in the gym for a shake out and its now business as usual."

NEW HEIGHTS: The team that will step out at St Andrews

Beds Schools U14s set for big day out at Birmingham

FOOTBALL

SOME of the most talented young footballers in the county will be running out at the home of Birmingham City FC on Tuesday as Bedfordshire County Schools U14s play in the final of the ESFA PlayStation Inter County Trophy.

Surrey County Schools will be their opponents at St Andrews in what is their first final in the competition at this age group, with the match kicking off at midday.

Managed by Rhys Allen, a teacher at St Thomas More School, a squad of 16 made up of students from 13 different upper or secondary schools from Bedfordshire will be looking to come back with the silverware.

Bedfordshire defeated last year's winners Merseyside 2-0 in the semi-final to earn themselves the experience of appearing at a stadium where Championship football is played. The youngsters will get to change in either the home or away team dressing room before taking to the field.

FOOTBALL

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE

BOSS Nathan Jones believes Luton have everything in place to succeed next season, despite missing out on the play-offs this term.

The Hatters manager saw his side save their best home performance till last as they routed Exeter City 4-1 and could have scored more.

Jack Marriott netted twice to confirm his place as Town's top scorer with 16, while Cameron McGeehan added his 14th and Joe Pigott his fourth in the last game of his loan spell from Charlton.

With the League Two play-off picture already decided, neither team had anything to play for but Town gave their fans an exhilarating send-off and provided a statement of intent for next season, where they will expect to be challenging at the business end of the division.

Jones, who took over in January, said: "Fans have to understand that things are not built overnight but I thought we were excellent in how we went about our work. We've laid certain foundations here and it has been a really valuable four months.

"We tried to do something special, in sneaking in the play-offs, but it was always going to be difficult because you're always playing catch-up. So when you have a bad result and someone else does well, it takes you further away. But I think we've been excellent, I really do. I feel we've put in place a structure, a way of discipline, a way of training, our attitude and everything we do, we've put in place and I'm really pleased with that, because it has been a valuable four months."

Sport on sunday

Bright future for Jones

Luton had not scored more than two goals before half time at Kenilworth Road since the final day of last season, so to hit three before the break created a party atmosphere in the stadium for supporters to take into the summer.

"I'm very pleased, we spoke all week and with the intensity in our training, as we didn't want it to be an end-of-season game," said Jones.

"We felt we've needed to give the fans something and I felt we did, I felt we were excellent from start to finish, apart from a five minute period after half time where they [Exeter] looked like they could get back into it. Even then, we'd had chances before that and we thoroughly deserved it as we had had lots and lots and lots of chances."

"We had a clinical edge to us and we looked like we were going to score, we hit the post, the keeper made some good saves, so I'm very, very pleased how we've gone about our work and the manner of the win as well, I thought we were excellent."

Final day blitz from Luton

FOOTBALL

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE
sport@lsmmedia.co.uk

LUTON TOWN 4 EXETER CITY 1

IF Luton are so inclined they could do some roaring summer business if they quickly get some t-shirts printed up with the words: 'I was there when Luton scored three in the first half at home.'

They waited until the final game of a wretched season to net more than once in the first 45 minutes at home. They saved the best till last.

So bad had their record been at Kenilworth Road that until a month ago they'd even gone nine straight games without registering before the break – and then this.

Cameron McGeehan, Jack Marriott (twice) and Joe Pigott all struck and they could have had more.

This may have been a League Two dead rubber but Town should mark this date in their diaries as their start-as-you-mean-to-go-on moment. Freedom, style and swagger, it was all here.

Even when former Luton loan striker Jayden Stockley scored two minutes into the restart, Marriott restored the three-goal buffer, slotting superbly into the bottom corner for his 16th of a personally impressive campaign. He should have had a hat-trick, maybe even two, but hitting the post was as close as he came to the match ball.

Still, it was the first time Town had fired four in the Football League since their return in 2014.

Let's first put aside this notion of Luton being a big club. They are, of that there's no doubt, I mean more the sense of privilege that comes with all such claims, for teams at all levels.

There's still history, a large fanbase and now tantalisingly impressive off-field ambitions, courtesy of new stadium plans, but that doesn't ensure glory.

It may once have done but, in winning the Premier League title, Leicester have taken the rulebook and, not so much ripped it up and thrown it out of the window, as atomised it. Rulebook? What rulebook? For now, 'impossible' is a myth, a legend we used to tell ourselves. The big fish aren't guaranteed the big prize and David beats Goliath. In League Two, Luton have been testament to that. It will do no good to assume they are entitled anything. That will only come with graft and craft.

Here they had both and this dismantling of Exeter, albeit in a dead rubber, shows that the Hatters, under boss Nathan Jones, can shoot for the stars next season.

Yet current thinking dictates that it won't be done with the chequebook, even with an initial £500,000 extra in the bank, from Andre Gray's promotion to the Premier League with Burnley. For now though, football doesn't belong to the money men, it has been reclaimed by the romantics and the dreamers.

BIG FINISH: Jack Marriott scored twice in an impressive performance by the Hatters

That's what Luton must try to harness next term because up and down the land, none of the old arguments, assumptions and rhetoric for failure will wash anymore.

The process has already begun and Jones has been saying all the right things since he arrived in January while, five months later against Exeter, his team finally excelled themselves to provide a big send-off.

So it's with a sense of relief that this campaign comes to end, but hope springs eternal and, in saving their best home performance until last, Town will keep the anticipation bubbling over the summer.

It will be a separation eased by Euro 2016 and, even though some will swear blind they've always been into rowing and rhythmic gymnastics, when the Rio Olympics rolls around in August, it'll be the start of next season that everyone wants.

Expect, in France and Brazil, more tales of triumph in the face of adversity, more impossible dreams made possible, all of which must be taken as inspiration.

And if, a year from now, there's an open top bus parade through Luton, it'll be this game and this performance that kick-started it.
